1. A view of the compound. 2. Sliding barn-style doors reinforce the rustic atmosphere. 3. Guests sleep in a cabin that is actually a wood-frame tent, made with a kit from sweetwaterbunglows.com. 4. Dog andirons from L.L. Bean. 5. On the screened-in porch, French park chairs from Chelsea Antiques and stools made from tractor seats are gathered round a table supposedly made of scrap metal from the Eiffel Tower for Gustave Eiffel's office. 6. Rocking chairs from L.L. Bean. 7. The front door of the cottage is marked in red. 8. A boardwalk connects all the buildings on the property, including the original 1940 rancher's cottage—now enhanced with an inviting front porch. OPPOSITE: The spool chairs are from Ralph Lauren and African drum tables are from Swallowtail. A galvanized metal ladder leads up to the sleeping loft.
